I. Introduction / Overview

This Tax Guide is designed to provide general information about certain tax forms you may receive in connection with your Prosper investments. Specifically, you may receive one or all of the following U.S. federal information returns from Prosper for the 2023 calendar year: Form 1099-OID, Original Issue Discount, Form 1099-MISC, Miscellaneous Income, and Form 1099-B, Proceeds from Broker and Barter Exchange Transactions.

Please note that Prosper is not providing tax, financial or legal advice and this document is not intended to be used for tax, financial or legal advice. As a result, Prosper recommends that you consult with your financial or tax advisor if you have any questions. Additionally, the IRS provides guidance on the back of each Form 1099 designed to describe what generally is reported in each box on the form and where the amount may be reported on an income tax return unless an exception applies.

The 2023 Forms 1099 will be available to you no later than January 31, 2024. It is your responsibility to check your account and review all information provided by Prosper before filing your Federal and State income tax returns (as necessary).

Form Name	Description
1099-OID	Reports net accrued interest of $10 or more received in calendar year 2023
1099-MISC	Reports other income of $600 or more (such as late fees) received in calendar year 2023
1099-B	Reports gross proceeds from sales or recoveries received in calendar year 2023 from Notes corresponding to loans charged-off in 2023 or prior years

<sup>1</sup> Note that investors may only receive select forms as applicable to their account and financial situation

The IRS will match the amounts reported on the tax forms listed above to the amounts reported on your federal income tax return using your tax identification number (e.g., SSN, EIN, ITIN, etc.).

Note: The information in this Tax Guide is provided specifically for retail investors who hold Prosper Notes and file a U.S. federal Form 1040. This Tax Guide is designed to provide general information about certain tax forms you may receive from Prosper. Prosper is not providing tax, financial or legal advice. The information herein is general and educational in nature and is not intended to be, and should not be considered, tax, financial, or legal advice. Prosper recommends that you consult your financial or tax advisor if you have any questions.

II. Form 1099-OID (Original Issue Discount)

Investors who earned $10 or more in “net interest” payments in the 2023 tax year will receive a Form 1099-OID. The amount reported as “net interest” equals the amount of interest income on your investments in Prosper Notes earned in 2023 less any collection or servicing fees deducted by Prosper Funding LLC.

If you are the holder of a taxable OID obligation, such as a Prosper Note, you are generally required to include the amount reported in Box 1 of Form 1099-OID in your annual gross income by reporting it on Line 2b of your Form 1040, and Schedule B (if required). For more details about reporting taxable interest, please see IRS Pub. 550.

IV. Form 1099-B (Proceeds from Broker and Barter Exchange Transactions)

You may receive a Form 1099-B for the 2023 tax year if you:

- (a) held any Notes where the corresponding loans were charged-off in 2023,
  - (b) received any recovery proceeds from Notes where the corresponding loans were charged-off either in 2023 or a prior calendar year, or
  - (c) received gross proceeds from Notes corresponding to charged-off loans that were sold to third parties in 2023.

You will receive a consolidated Form 1099-B with a detailed breakdown of this information for each Note held.

As background, the gains or losses resulting from sales or recoveries of charged-off loans may be categorized as either short-term or long-term capital gains or losses, depending on how long you held the corresponding Notes. Specifically, if you held the corresponding Notes for at least one year, then the capital gains or losses will be considered long-term. In contrast, if you held the corresponding Notes for less than one year, then the capital gains or losses will be classified as short-term.

The Form 1099-B may also contain information related to your adjusted basis in the Notes. See below for further detail.

Charge-offs:

As a matter of policy, Prosper generally charges-off all loans that are at least 120 days past due. In some cases, it may charge-off loans before this date if a borrower declares bankruptcy or Prosper learns of the borrower's death. You may be able to claim a loss for federal income tax purposes if any of the Notes you held were charged-off during the calendar year.

In such case, the adjusted basis of any Notes corresponding to charged-off loans will be reported in Box 1e. The adjusted basis generally equals the purchase price of the Note, less any repaid principal on the Note.

Proceeds from Previously Charged-Off Loans (i.e., Recoveries):

In certain cases, Prosper may recover a portion of the principal, interest, or late fees associated with a loan that was charged-off in a prior year.

The proceeds received from any recoveries will be reported in Box 1d of Form 1099-B and will include the total gross proceeds received from any Notes corresponding to loans that were charged-off in 2023 or prior to 2023 (less applicable recovery fees). The adjusted basis associated with these Notes will be zero. Prosper will also indicate whether the gains or losses associated with these sales are short-term or long-term (Box 2).

Proceeds from Debt Sales:

In certain cases, Prosper may sell charged-off loans to a third party. The gross proceeds received from these sales will be reported in Box 1d of Form 1099-B. The amount reported will equal the gross proceeds received from the sale less any applicable fees. The adjusted basis associated with these Notes will be reported in Box 1e. Prosper will also indicate whether the gains or losses associated with these sales are short-term or long-term (Box 2).

General Commentary on Gain and Loss:

The Notes you purchase from Prosper are generally considered capital assets because they are owned for investment purposes. Therefore, gains and losses from recoveries, sales or charge-offs related to Prosper Notes are generally characterized as capital gains or losses for federal income tax purposes and are reported on Schedule D and Form 8949 (if required) of Form 1040.

Typically, capital losses are first offset against capital gains. For individuals, any excess capital losses may generally be used to offset ordinary income up to $3,000 ($1,500 if married filing separately). Capital losses in excess of this limit may be carried-forward to subsequent years to reduce capital gains or ordinary income until the full balance of the capital losses are utilized.
